Public Relations Introduction

Public Relations may be the most important task you and your Post will undertake. It occurs every minute of every day. It goes beyond preparing and distributing news releases. It is the underlying element that brings success or failure to your Post. All contact between your Post and the community has a public relations aspect. Ensuring the community views your Post positively is paramount.

The community service your Post performs will enhance the Post's reputation as a responsible, caring and energetic community service organization — one that leads by example.

Your PR Strategy

What do you want to accomplish with your PR strategy? Define your objectives. This is the critical first step.

- Determine your audience. This includes members, potential members and non-members. Different Post activities appeal to different segments of the community.
- Define your message. Sticking to one message is essential. However, your message may be presented in several ways through various outlets. Determine the best outlet for the best results.
- Develop a strategy. How can you best accomplish your goals? Look at the dynamics of your community. Build a relationship with the media in your area. Keep an up-to-date list of contacts for each outlet. Become the subject matter experts in your community on patriotic and veterans' issues. Make your Post visible and active on social media. Develop relationships with other local community service organizations.

When evaluating your strategy, you should listen carefully to the feedback from Post members and officers, members of the community and the media. Take this information and fine tune your strategy, if necessary. A good communicator talks and listens.

Suggestions from all sources should be considered. After all, those people see your messages from a different angle, and what might be very clear to you may not be to them. A new point of view may help get the word out more efficiently and effectively.

Development of good public relations takes time and commitment.

Building Media Contacts

As a Post officer, you will have to speak to the media and general public. Therefore, you need to be able to speak clearly and concisely on veterans' issues and VFW programs. Your ability to communicate in both the written and spoken word will benefit the Post and the community.

You should build a good working relationship with members of the media, as well as the leaders of the various VFW programs. The assistance of officers and members is invaluable when gathering information to present to the media. When your information is accurate and of interest to the community, the media will welcome your submissions.

Some basic equipment needed to accomplish this task are a computer, email address, letterhead and a style guide, such as the Associated Press Stylebook.

A camera or smart phone is a great tool when used properly. After all, “a picture is worth a thousand words,” but only when that picture is of good quality and supports your newsworthy story. Avoid taking “grip-and-grin” photos. Additionally, always look for the action shots. Remember, get close, get faces, and get a signed photo release.

Your goals are to develop a public relations strategy and make it work, establish media contacts and increase the community’s awareness and respect for the VFW.

Building VFW Awareness by Rewarding Your Community

Know the VFW programs and how they serve the community. Our programs are the heart of our organization, beginning with community service. Tell the community about the Post service officer and the free assistance available to any veteran and his or her dependents to gain entitlements.

Our programs can reach people in the community who might not otherwise know veterans or the continuing service they offer to their communities. Through our youth and citizenship education programs we offer valuable and needed information to various groups in the community.

Establish an awards program that relates to VFW programs. Everyone loves praise. Recognition focuses the community spotlight on the individual or group being acknowledged as well as on the VFW. Award your local police, firefighters and EMTs with a certificate of appreciation during a public ceremony. Coordinate this event with a community anniversary or a national observance.

Other organizations or groups that have assisted the VFW in a community service project deserve thanks as well. Host a special event to recognize individuals or groups who further the VFW’s priorities and ideals. Include teachers, public officials, youths and members who have demonstrated support of the VFW’s values.

Deal With Bad Publicity, Don’t Avoid It

Unfavorable publicity needs to be handled promptly and with as accurate information as possible. Here are some tips for dealing with negative publicity:

- Don’t avoid the media. Help them get all the facts so the story will be fair and balanced.

- Do not provide conjecture or speak before you have all the facts. Stating "We're aware of the situation, and are investigating," can help.
- Do not place blame.
- Do not discuss fault or liability.
- Deal with the situation and move on. Even a bad situation can have positive aspects.

Think of this as a welcome opportunity to present the VFW's programs and projects that help the community. If you have been helpful, the media contacts you make can prove valuable in the future.

Targeting the Media with a Specific Message

Get to know the media in your area. This includes newspapers, both daily and weekly; radio, television and cable television stations; local or regional trade publications; and local and regional magazines.

Your contact list should include: name, title, address, affiliation, phone number, email address, social media handles and publication deadline dates.

Remember: your membership is diverse. Contacting various outlets ensures that your message reaches a wide audience.

Not every message will need to be sent to every contact. A news release announcing teachers and students receiving awards from the VFW would be best sent to the local media outlets as well as the school and any professional publication for teachers. A blood drive held at the Post would have a different list of media contacts. Choose carefully. A constant barrage of unrelated news releases can numb the media to your message.

A 'Thank You' Reaps Rewards

Nothing is more important than saying "thank you." A well-written thank you note to a guest speaker is imperative.

Presentation of a certificate of appreciation to an individual or a group that has assisted with a program goes a long way toward building community relationships. A brief note of thanks to a member of the media for event coverage can help keep the lines of communication open. You also may want to consider writing congratulatory letters to individual Post members when they have accomplished something noteworthy outside of the organization.

Many members belong to various community service organizations. Sending congratulatory letters to elected leaders of other service organizations is a good way to establish a spirit of camaraderie between organizations. After all, we are all trying to better our communities through voluntary public service.

In addition, you can host an annual appreciation event for local law enforcement agencies, community-safety representatives, educators and youths who deserve recognition.

Make Your Community Proud of Your Post

Make your community proud it has a VFW Post. Be the focal point in your community for all patriotic programs. Whether it's parades, school programs or voter registration, make sure the VFW has a visible presence.

Keep the Post home in good shape. Make it attractive and welcoming. Let it be an example of an organization that is proud of its history and working to make the community a better place in which to live. When the Post has a good image, it is easier to get the media involved and excited about VFW-sponsored events.

Finally, remember that you represent the VFW to every person you meet. The impression you make is one the public will associate with the VFW. Make sure it is a positive one.

Keep a Calendar

A calendar of upcoming VFW events can help simplify your job. On your calendar include important national events, anniversaries and observances. To commemorate these dates, you may want to have a letter to the editor ready for possible publication.

Also you might consider hosting an event in observance of these special days. When planning an event, it is important to consult with the local community calendar. Scheduling conflicts can be avoided with some simple checking.

News Releases and Promotion

A News Release Must Be Newsworthy

The most fundamental way, although not the only way, to get your message out to the media is through a news release.

An effective news release relates information that is newsworthy. It should be clear, concise, error-free and answer the "Five Ws" in the first paragraph: who, what, where, when and why.

Try to keep the news release to one page, two at the most. If more information is needed to better explain your news release (fact sheets, biographies or program information), it can be attached. Be sure the contact person's name, phone number and the date of the release are clearly indicated.

Include quotes from the head of the organization, the Post Commander or the officer responsible for the program. It is best to use quotes that sound natural and express an opinion or position.

Press releases can be written on events, programs, awards, election of VFW officers or national issues. Be sure to highlight the local aspect no matter what the subject. Localization makes for easier placement.

Avoid buzzwords and organizational acronyms. Assume that readers know nothing about the organization — chances are they don't.

As you are writing, think about simplicity. Be brief. Forget flowery adjectives — they will most likely be cut anyway. And don't be insulted if your release is changed or cut, as long as it gets the main points across. The editor's job is to do just that — edit.

Know the media deadlines. Allow enough time for editors to call with questions, but not too much time for the interest to lag.

Make the reporter's job easier by emailing the news release to them. Follow-up with a phone call.

When you have completed your news release, go back over it again. Check that you have answered the "Five Ws" in the first paragraph. Did you give the release a point of local interest? Are the sentences short and clear? Is the release written in a consistent manner? Is it typed and error-free? Nothing is more irritating to an editor than having to rewrite a release.

If a photo is included with the release, be sure to provide the names of everyone in the photo and a brief explanation of the event. Make sure the photo is of good quality and suitable for publication.

Control Interviews with Facts and Research

If reporters call, determine why they are calling and the subject to be discussed. Ask if the reporter is on deadline, and assure the reporter you will call back before the deadline. Remember, you have little control over the interview, but if the reporter asks an off-topic question, bring them back to the agreed topic. Here are tips designed to help as you prepare for the actual interview:

- Jot down likely questions and appropriate answers.
- Know what you want to communicate. Plan to make your points accordingly.
- Do your research. Provide background or expanded information.
- Never lie or mislead a reporter.
- Offer your conclusion first, briefly and directly. Back it with facts.
- Avoid organizational jargon and acronyms.
- Short answers are better than long. Use complete sentences.
- Don't accept a reporter's facts or figures as true; don't respond to a hypothetical situation; and do respond to negative-leading questions with positive statements.
- Keep cool. Don't allow yourself to be provoked.
- Remember when talking to a reporter there is no such thing as "off the record."
- If there are any skeletons in the closet, be prepared for them to come up in the interview.
- Be prepared to state all your positive points completely in response to the first questions asked.
- State clearly when you can release information and why.
- If you don't know the answers, say so, and offer to find out.

The interview will be brief. A reporter has only a few minutes to get your full story. Don't ask to approve the story before it is published or broadcast.

Notifying the Media When the Chief Visits

The VFW National Commander's visit to your area is an important event for several reasons. First, they are the chief spokesman for our organization. They are widely traveled, aware of the concerns of veterans and their families across the nation, and have the responsibility to meet with the president and key congressional members to express the interests and needs of the nation's veterans.

For these reasons, the local media will be interested in their views on veterans' issues, national security and foreign affairs. It benefits the VFW and veterans in general if the Chief's visit is well-covered by the media.

- Media Alert. If your Department has already announced the Chief's visit, ask for a copy. Then, forward it to the news editors in your community. If the Department has not distributed a media alert, write one yourself.
- Interviews. Contact your local TV and radio stations in your community and ask if they would like to have the VFW's National Commander as a guest. Of course, be sure the Chief will be in your area long enough to take part in this type of interview. Most Post visits are scheduled for 30 minutes. Such interviews work best at the beginning of a visit or at the end. In any case, coordinate with your Department headquarters to determine what time works best for the Chief's already-established schedule.
- Interviewees. The media is there to interview the Chief. Conduct the interview in such a manner so others cannot interrupt. The Chief, the Post/District Commander and the Department Commander are the only VFW members who should attend the interview. Post, District and Department Commanders are there only to provide information on veterans' issues on a local or state level. Do not put the Chief into an interview by themselves where the media are going to concentrate on local veterans' issues. The Chief talks only on relevant national and international issues.
- News Conference. Since the amount of time the Chief can spend at a Post is limited, it is usually a good idea to invite the media for a specific time. Then, turn the Chief over to them for a news conference-type interview.
- Place. Where you conduct the interview is very important. Do not conduct interviews in the Post canteen. Use your meeting room or an area that is clean and quiet.
- Time. The best time to conduct an interview at the Post is as soon as the Chief arrives. Reporters have deadlines to meet and they do not have time to stand around while the Chief visits with members. Get the interview started when they arrive. The Chief can visit with members later. The only exception to this rule is when the Chief will be at the Post for a luncheon or dinner. For these visits, ask the media if they would like to eat with members, listen to the Chief's remarks afterward, and then conduct the interview. Quite often, the Chief's remarks to the group after the meal give the media ideas for questions.

- Follow-up. If there are questions that can't be answered during the interview, be sure to get the name and phone number of the reporter, and provide an answer as soon as possible.

Good PR Helps Retain Members

Post officers have an additional responsibility to members of the VFW to ensure that Post activities are enjoyable, interesting and diverse. This promotes membership retention. Members who show pride in the organization and the community service they perform attract potential members.

Remind members to wear VFW-branded apparel. Make sure new members feel welcome and offer them the opportunity to get involved in a VFW program or project that captures their interest. Getting a new member off to a good start, or involving an existing member in a new program, is in everyone's best interest. A happy member is the best PR the VFW can have.

Supporting VFW activities through meaningful PR is the key to supporting members in their efforts to help the community. Members will recognize your contribution to the success of the VFW and its many projects and programs. There is no substitute for teamwork.

Advertising

There are significant differences between public relations and advertising.

With advertising you control the timing and content but not the cost. In public relations you have no control on the timing or content but pay nothing. Resources will determine which method you use most frequently.

Talk to local radio and TV stations about advertising or donated public service announcement (PSA) time. The cost of placing a 30-second spot can be minimal depending on your location. Explore these mediums for effectiveness of messaging (how many of your target audience you reach) and cost comparison.

VFW National Headquarters has produced 30 and 60-second videos and radio spots. They publicize the VFW's mission and promote our free assistance programs. Some solicit membership so they cannot be used as PSAs, which are free.

Additionally, if you advertise to solicit members, be mindful of the environment at the Post. Make sure the prospective member feels welcome and respected.

Be Creative with Publicity Options

We have talked about the printed word in the form of a news release and the possibilities available through radio and video, but there are other options to investigate as well.

VFW GUIDE FOR GETTING STARTED AND STAYING ACTIVE ON SOCIAL MEDIA

GETTING STARTED

Creating a social media presence, such as a Facebook page, an X, formerly Twitter handle or Instagram account allows your Post, District or Department to increase VFW brand awareness and engage with your members, supporters and fellow veterans through an online community where people gather to receive information and access resources.

Social media is useful to share the important work of the VFW, information on meetings and events, creates membership opportunities and works to enhance your Post, District or Department's visibility. It is also a place to share success stories and to ask for support if needed.

Creating a social media presence is not enough however, you must be active! Fully completing your account profile, posting content regularly, engaging with users and responding to direct messages in a timely manner are all vitally important. Make certain you are assigning a site administrator(s) that you can trust.

Each social media site is unique in the content it supports and its user base. We encourage you to do some research into the various sites to find the one that suits your Post, District or Department needs. Remember, social media success is contingent upon ENGAGEMENT!

A few questions to consider before choosing which channel is right for you:

- What is this platform's functionality?
- Can we actively and efficiently engage users on this platform?
- How can using this platform help us achieve our goals?

Please note: VFW Facebook and X profile images are available in the "Getting Started Online" section of the Communications and Public Affairs hub in Training and Support at vfw.org. Brand usage guidelines and instructions on how to access your specific Post, District or Department VFW logo can be accessed here.

Get to know the channels:

Facebook:

You have the option to control the look of your page by adding a profile picture and a cover photo. Other suggestions include using photos of your Post, District or Department building or photos from recent events.

There are many ways to add content to your Facebook page, but the most common include status updates, creating events and sharing photos. Please refer to the Facebook Help Center for more information about each of these.

An official Facebook page may be created with the appropriate permission from your Post, District or Department.

A Facebook page must be created from the profile of an existing Facebook user. If you do not have an existing account, please make one. It is best to create the profile under the name of a real person, then create a Facebook page associated with that profile.

The difference between a profile and a Facebook page is that people must send “Friend Requests” to the profile in order to connect with you. When your Post, District, or Department has a Facebook page, anyone can view the page and connect with and join your audience by following the page and giving the page a “like.”

Ready to get started on Facebook?

Begin creating your official Post, District or Department Facebook page by following these steps. Be sure to create an appropriate name based on your official Post, District or Department name/number. Note: Watch what to do if a Facebook page for your entity, for which you do not have access, already exists.

It is important to add more than one person within your Post, District or Department as administrators of the Facebook page. Be sure they are trusted, and active on their personal Facebook page. This ensures that if the primary administrator leaves, the account will remain accessible, and that Facebook will not deactivate your account by purging the inactive personal account of one of your administrators. Learn how to add an administrator to your page here. Be sure everyone who has access to your page is aware of the guidelines your Post, District or Department has set for their social media activity.

Publicly, we recommend placing a User Code of Conduct in the “About” section of your Facebook page. You are at liberty to copy the VFW National Headquarters’ Facebook User Code of Conduct below:

VFW Facebook User Code of Conduct

We strive to provide an inviting space where users can freely and respectfully discuss the content posted to our page. We have instituted user guidelines to help us accomplish this. Failure to adhere to these guidelines will result in deleted comments. In severe cases, users will be banned from future engagement with the VFW page.

Comments, posts and direct messages which contain one or more of the qualities listed below will be unacknowledged, hidden or deleted. Users may be banned if they are excessive or repeat offenders.

- * Hate speech.
- * Discrimination.
- * Bullying or harassment.
- * Excessive profanity.
- * Sexual content.

- * Content unsuitable for minors (Please remember we have underage fans on our page.)
- * No promotions or spam: Links, images, referral codes, self-promotion, or excessive references to third parties' products or services will be deleted.
- * Identifying VFW members, staff and other users in defamatory, abusive, or in such a manner which endangers their privacy and security.
- * Deliberately provocative or antagonistic language.
- * Engagement which has no relevance to the original post or content.

Please note: Direct messages are not an official means of reporting to the national organization. If you would like to report a grievance, please do so utilizing the proper channels or you may fill out the VFW's form: <https://www.vfw.org/contact-us>.

X:

Twitter formerly rebranded in 2023, changing its name to X. According to the Associated Press' update to its stylebook on the name change, its suggested that "on first reference, refer to the platform as X, formerly known as Twitter. The term tweet remains acceptable as a noun and a verb. Also acceptable is phrasing such as posted on the X platform, formerly known as Twitter. On later references to the platform: the X platform or X." While the rebrand changed the appearance of the platform, users will find that much of the verbiage surrounding the platform is unchanged.

Each tweet is limited to 280 characters for unsubscribed X users, so you must be brief in your messaging. However, those who opt to pay for a X subscription service (X Premium, formerly known as Twitter Blue or Verified Organizations) now have up to a 25,000-limit character count.

Hashtags are words or phrases preceded by a hash sign (#) used on social media websites and apps especially X, to identify a specific topic. For example, if you tweet, "We're hosting bingo Friday night to benefit #veterans at 7 p.m., everyone is welcome!" using the hashtag #veterans will categorize your tweet with every other tweet using the hashtag #veterans. To see this, enter #veterans in the search bar at the top of the page and you will see a list of all the recent tweets using that hashtag.

While X may have character limitations for unsubscribed X users, with a little creativity you can still share most of the same information with your X followers that you would share on Facebook.

Ready to get started on X?

Go to the X "Sign Up" page and follow the prompts. We recommend signing up with a shared email address for your Post, District or Department so that in the event the primary administrator leaves, the credentials are recoverable.

Be sure to create an appropriate name based on your official Post, District or Department name/number, input a proper description of the VFW and note that you're interested in veterans.

Once you've successfully signed up, complete your Post, District or Department profile by inputting a photo/VFW logo, completing your physical address, phone number, etc.

Issues signing up? Visit the X Help Center for a step-by-step guide on how to sign up for your new X account.

Instagram:

Instagram is the perfect combination of Facebook and X, where images and videos are at the forefront, with hashtags often utilized to discover similar content within the captions and comments. Links are not easily added which pushes users to create content that lives specifically on Instagram.

Ready to get started on Instagram?

Grab your mobile device and download the Instagram app from your app store or head to Instagram.com to create an account. If you have an existing Facebook or Instagram account, you can use your existing account to create a new Instagram account.

Create an account by choosing an appropriate name based on your official Post, District or Department name/number. Confirm your account by using an email address associated with your Post, District or Department that the administrator and others have access to.

Input an appropriate photo/VFW logo as your profile picture and complete the remainder of the profile with your Post, District or Department information.

If you've hit a roadblock, visit the Instagram Help Center for more information on account basics and how to set up an account.

STAYING ACTIVE

Maintaining a positive, active social media presence requires that your accounts meet the community standards set forth by each channel and the administrators take a proactive approach in cultivating your presence and a following.

- Basic Do's
 - Create an official handle with completed profile.
 - This conveys professionalism and accessibility.

MORE FACTS ABOUT THE VFW

About the VFW

We trace our roots back to 1899 when veterans of the Spanish-American War (1898) and the Philippine Insurrection (1899-1902) founded local organizations to secure rights and benefits for their service. Many arrived home wounded or sick. There was no medical care or veterans' pension for them, and they were left to care for themselves. In their misery, some of these veterans banded together and formed organizations that would eventually band together and become known as the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States.

Our Mission: To foster camaraderie among United States veterans of overseas conflicts. To serve our veterans, the military and our communities. To advocate on behalf of all veterans.

Our Vision: Ensure that veterans are respected for their service, always receive their earned entitlements, and are recognized for the sacrifices they and their loved ones have made on behalf of this great country.

VFW at a Glance

The VFW is a nonprofit veterans service organization comprised of eligible veterans and military service members from the active, Guard and Reserve forces. The VFW and its Auxiliary are dedicated to veterans service, legislative advocacy, and military and community service programs.

Origins

In 1899, the American Veterans of Foreign Service (Columbus, Ohio) and the National Society of the Army of the Philippines (Denver, Colorado) were organized to secure rights and benefits for veterans of the Spanish-American War (1898) and the Philippines War (1899-1902). These two organizations merged in 1914, creating the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States. The VFW was chartered by Congress in 1936.

Membership Eligibility

Citizens or nationals of the United States serving honorably in the U.S. Armed Forces in a foreign war or overseas operation recognized by a campaign medal, in Korea after June 30, 1949, and recipients of hostile-fire or imminent danger pay. Veterans of World War II, Korea, Vietnam, Lebanon, Grenada, Panama, Persian Gulf, Somalia, Kosovo, Afghanistan, Iraq and other smaller expeditionary campaigns, as well as occupation duty, qualify.

Partner Organization

A national volunteer service organization, the Auxiliary of the VFW was founded in 1914 and is the backbone of many local VFW volunteer efforts.

Membership Size

More than 1.4 million VFW and Auxiliary members in all 50 states, and many foreign territories.

Organizational Structure

Thousands convene each year at the VFW's national convention to elect officers, adopt resolutions and discuss business affairs. Leading the organization are the elected commander-in-chief, senior vice commander-in-chief and junior vice commander-in-chief. The National Council of Administration serves as the VFW's board of directors.

Nearly 6,000 Posts worldwide comprise 52 Departments in the 50 states, the Asia/Pacific Areas and Europe. Posts form the basic local chapter.

Priority Issues

- Budget: Fully fund programs for veterans, service members and their families.
- Health Care: Provide service members and veterans timely access to high-quality health care without increasing cost shares.
